The annual report of the American Library Association is presented to the volume by the election of its officers and members of the Council of the Association, and by the publication of the official proceedings of the annual meeting. The report is published in the fall of each year, and is distributed to members of the Association and to other interested parties.

The report includes a recapitulation of the Association's activities during the previous year, along with a discussion of current trends and developments in the field of librarianship. It also provides a financial statement of the Association's affairs, including its income and expenditure for the year.

In addition to the regular reports, the annual meeting of the Association includes a variety of other activities, such as workshops, seminars, and networking events. These events provide members with the opportunity to share ideas and expertise, and to learn about new developments in the field.

The annual report of the American Library Association is an important resource for librarians and other interested parties, as it provides a comprehensive overview of the activities and achievements of the Association during the previous year.
